A First for HASEKO Corporation

Selected as a Constituent of All 6 ESG Indices for Japanese Equities Adopted by GPIF

HASEKO Corporation (Headquarters: Minato-ku, Tokyo; President and Representative Director: Satoshi Kumano; hereinafter, the “Company”) announces that it has been selected as a constituent of all 6 ESG indices for Japanese equities adopted by the Government Pension Investment Fund (GPIF). This is the first fiscal year in which the Company has been selected as a constituent of all 6 indices.

The ESG indices for Japanese equities adopted by GPIF comprise indices based on different assessment methodologies and themes, including indices that evaluate overall ESG initiatives as well as gender diversity and carbon efficiency. The Company views its selection as a constituent of all 6 ESG indices as recognition of its sustainability initiatives and information disclosure efforts to date.

In July 2026, the HASEKO Group re-identified its material issues*1 to more closely align them with its businesses and link them to further value creation. Going forward, the Group will continue to steadily advance its materiality initiatives and enhance transparency through appropriate information disclosure, thereby contributing to the realization of a sustainable society and leading to the sustainable enhancement of corporate value.

The selected indices and the Company’s selection history are as follows:
